

Statistical inference for some network models

Abstract:

We consider the estimation of the attachment function in the preferential attachment model for generating a random graph. We consider both empirical estimation in the nonparametric situation and maximum likelihood estimation in parametric models. [Based on joint work with Fengnan Gao.]